A DIFFERENT APPROACH TO MIDDLE AND HIGH SCHOOL

WHAT IF YOUR CHILD:

- ▷ Had a school schedule that provided flexibility for the whole family?
- ▷ Could enjoy a focused learning experience that was designed just for him or her?
- ▷ Was encouraged to not only succeed academically but also to develop important life skills and extend his or her learning outside the curriculum?
- ▷ Could have access to an affordable, accredited college preparatory program?
- ▷ Had personalized college counseling?

You may have never thought about the option of virtual education for your child. After all, hasn't the traditional school model worked for countless kids over hundreds of years?

The Covid-19 pandemic has proven to be a major disruptor with rippling effects felt by you and nearly everyone else on the planet. The normal way of doing things, down to mundane trips to the supermarket, has been turned upside down. Coming out of this worldwide health crisis, it's likely that you'll encounter many different and better ways of doing things. In that light, take advantage of this opportunity to look at your child's education with fresh eyes.

Perhaps you've discovered that the traditional school model isn't working for your family's lifestyle. You're experiencing problems with work or travel schedules, or maybe your child has a time consuming special interest he or she wants to pursue.

For some, the issue isn't really about time. Maybe you're concerned as you watch your child struggle with the pace of the typical classroom environment, whether too fast or too slow. You're frustrated that your child isn't receiving the attention from teachers that he or she needs and deserves to be successful.

Or perhaps you were surprised to watch your child thrive when schools were required to shift to remote learning due to the recent health restrictions. As your son or daughter responded to a less scripted routine, you were delighted to see him or her hit their stride academically.

Some parents are rightly concerned about their child's safety. Problems such as bullying, school shootings, and the possibility of illness are realities in today's school settings. You might long for your child to have the ability to focus on learning rather than constantly be distracted by safety concerns.

Like many parents, you may have considered the value of a private school education over the years, but have felt impeded by the potential strain to your family budget.

Whatever the reasons your child isn't fitting into the one-size-must-fit-all traditional model for education, Xceed Prep Virtual offers you an option that will prepare your child for college and his or her future while giving your family the flexibility it needs.

ONLINE AND ACCREDITED

PERSONALIZED LEARNING PLANS:

Xceed Prep Virtual is a school that creates personalized, flexible, effective plans for student success in middle and high school. Every student has a personalized learning plan (PLP) that aligns with their learning style and college goals.

Xceed's approach to creating your child's PLP requires that we ask the right questions, listen well, and make adjustments as we go. The process we use has four parts:

#1

REVIEW and ASSESS

Students and parents meet with the Head of School to review academic and personal information including completed classes, issues they are facing, special interests or talents, applicable NCAA eligibility status, and more.

SELECT specific GOALS

Next, we explore their goals such as where they want to go to college, what career paths they have in mind, what their performance ambitions are, and if they have any other specific interests they'd like to pursue. We also consider personal and emotional development goals and any other priorities valued by the student and family.

#3

ALIGN and AGREE

Then we bring it all together in a plan everyone agrees on – including things like class selection and your child's daily schedule.

REFINE over TIME

Teachers and the Head of School check-in consistently and then conduct an official review in 3-4 weeks to look at how the plan is working, whether or not your child needs more help, and where we might need to make adjustments

With the right space, attention, and planning, every child can succeed and reach their academic and personal potential!

WHAT STUDENTS CAN EXPECT

You're likely wondering what a virtual education would look like in your child's day-to-day life. Keep in mind that each student's experience with the curriculum and the selected instructional approach is customized to suit their individual needs.

A STUDENT'S DAY MIGHT INCLUDE:

- ▷ Reviewing concepts in a one-on-one meeting with his or her teacher
- ▷ Collaborating in real-time with peers as they work together on a project
- ▷ Working independently to apply what he or she has learned to real-life scenarios
- ▷ Working at the sports academy in a dedicated space for learning and adult supervision

Students participate in Conversation Based Assessments (CBAs)

where they periodically engage in a Socratic-like conversation with their teacher. Here they have an opportunity to ask questions for further understanding, share their findings, and defend their ideas about the subject matter as they prepare for a culminating activity, whether it be an exam, project, or presentation.

Our learning model is designed to be interactive for Xceed students. Teachers provide a customized learning experience for each student which includes a combination of video instruction, one-to-one or small group instruction, collaboration with peers, and independent work.

Students engage on different levels with teachers and peers and are able to demonstrate mastery in various ways.

All while working from the sports academy, where your child will have a balanced schedule between academics and training off-peak times.

Xceed students are supported by teachers who are readily available.

Teachers offer group and individual lessons to students. They also communicate regularly with students to ensure they are maintaining their pace of work and are mastering the concepts being taught. Students also have an academic coach on-site helping them with schedules, interacting with teachers, and light tutoring.
